AND O. R. E. NINE TO MEET NEXT SUNDAY

The O. R. E. nine will play the San Jose Doves at Traction Park on Sunday afternoon. The Doves are a strong aggregation, but the O. R. E. have a percentage of 1000 on the season's games and have sworn to keep the record unblighted. They won from the Happy's last Sunday. That was their first game of the season.

William O'Hara has been elected captain of the O. R. E. team, so that no lack of directing head work on the field is to be feared. E. W. Moore is the team manager.

HIGH SCHOOL BATTERY TO AID ESPANOLA IN GAME AT SANTA FE

James Harwood, pitcher, and Lyman Thaxter, catcher, of the Albuquerque high school baseball team, left this afternoon for Santa Fe, where they will play tomorrow with the Espanola team. The Espanola St. Michael's college. The Espanola battery fell down at the last moment and word was hurried down here for the crack high school battery.

Connie Mack has let George Brinkley, brother of the Harvard football captain, drift back to the minors. Brinkley booted the ball almost as well as his drop-kicking relative.

LINING 'EM OUT

We have proof now that Charlie Murphy is no longer connected with the Cub box office, anyway. He is enjoying the games at the Chicago National park.

The jester who sent Willie Ritchie a wrist watch can get a new angle on his joke by sending Branch Rickey a case of beer.

Hans Wagner has gone back—to his '91, '92 and '93 form.

With the bases full and Baker at the bat the proper course for a pitcher is to call in Argentine, Brazil and Chile.

Since the sale of lager beer was stopped at the Cincinnati park the Reds have been playing much faster ball. Probable hastie to get through to sprint for a place where the Id is still off.

Statistian has discovered that Christy Mathewson always wins the game he pitches on his birthday. Making no claims to being a statistician, we assert off-hand that Matty wins a lot of games on other people's birthdays.

If pennants were decided in May, the Athletics and Giants would never see the world's series, except as spectators.

One Athletic player who is deserving of especial praise is Peter Daley, who has been posted in left field during the illness of Oldring. Pete has been getting swats in bunches of twos and threes in every game, besides fielding like a marvel.

Daley this season is making good the advance notices that were printed about him before he joined the club in the spring of 1913. While he did well past season, it was remarked that he was not doing himself justice because of illness the previous winter. This season he is strong and hardy and in the best of condition. As a result of this improvement in health he is playing remarkable ball in all departments of the game. He is as fast as a bullet runs bases intelligently and is a big addition to the scoring machine.

Mack now has four all-star outfielders, when there was a time that the weakness of his outer garden was a big source of worry to him. With men like Daley, Strunk, Murphy and Oldring from whom to pick a trio, the fans won't read much in the papers about the so-called weakness of the Athletic outfield.

Manager Bill Carrigan's Red Sox machine is going badly because of magneto trouble. It doesn't look as if Boston has profited much by its bit of originality in throwing overboard a man who fetched a world's championship to the Hub.

Fish Commissioner Wagner, who in his spare moments covets short for the Pittsburgh team, is angling for some world's series coin this year.

It is said that the method used by the Federal league to figure the official attendance at its games is to multiply the national debt of France by the amount of Rockefeller's wealth and then add the population of London.

Responding to the cry for young blood, major league managers respectfully present Shortstop Hans Wagner, Shortstop Norman Elberfeld, Shortstop Rhudy Wallace, Second Baseman LaJoie, Right Fielder Sam Crawford, Third Baseman Tommy Leach. And every one of them is playing like a castle afame.

Jesse Burkett is as durable as the Washington monument, the Pyramids and Mt. McKinley. Although in his forty-fifth year, Jesse is stinging out bungles for Worcester team, of the New England league.

Speaking of the Athletics, numbers of fans have learned again that when they are being mauled they look as bad as any other team.

Roger Peckinpaugh has been elected captain of the New Yorks, but the job will carry few responsibilities, as Frank Chance will continue to do most of the directing on his own account.

The New York Sun rises to remark: "Going over the field situation carefully one cannot discover any shortstop in either big league who excels Peckinpaugh to any noticeable extent. This chap is about as good as they come, day in and day out, and the New York club would give a fat wad of money for a second baseman of the same caliber."

"Teams" Callahan, boss of the Chicago White Sox, rises to remark that he has four pitchers as good as Walter Johnson. Quite so. We readily admit that Johnson is only equal to four other other pitchers, if you insist on it, James.

The Washington Star says: "One thing is certain, 'Stuffy' McInnes can travel farther for a foul than any

DR. RYAN REPORTED
SAFETY AT PUERTO MEXICO
Vera Cruz, May 8.—Dr. Edward Ryan, who was condemned to execution at Zacatecas and later released, is reported to have arrived today without mishap at Puerto Mexico, together with 600 other refugees from the capital. They will go direct to New Orleans on board the Esperanza.

"Fifty years ago, when Golden Wedding Whiskey was young."

YOU are not in winning form for a game of billiards unless you're in a cheerful, confident mood. It's wonderful how a little drink of fine, old will give one the nerve and steadiness necessary to get the proper English on the ball.

Golden Wedding

Golden Wedding is a pure, mellow, sun-ripened whiskey, aged in the wood under the ever-watchful eye of the government, and distilled according to a special formula.

It produces no bad after-effects, but is nerve-soothing and is good for an over-worked or run-down system, because it is "Made Differently."

SOCIALITY RUN IS PLANNED BY ROAD MEN

Effort will be to Get Business Men into Game for First Trip Through Bernalillo County.

Arrangements were begun today for the sociality run which was planned last night by the good roads load. The run has been taken in hand by President D. K. E. Seller of the automobile association, and will be held on the afternoon of the same day the next good roads meeting. In all probability it will be called the "Merchants' Sociality Run" as it is intended primarily to bring out that class. This is done because it is felt that the merchants are the ones most interested in the progress of roads in the county.

It is likely that the run will be so arranged as to include an entertainment at Alameda, the terminus of the North Fourth street road, in which the school children will be asked to participate. This entertainment will also include some refreshments, but so far the entire arrangement is tentative.

Autolists expecting to make the run will be asked to enter their cars in the regular way at some place to be designated as soon as the exact date for the run is fixed.

ROAD MEN PLAN EVENTS TO AROUSE INTEREST

A public good roads rally, addressed to well known speakers, a sociality run and a banquet are to be features of a membership campaign of the Albuquerque local of the New Mexico Good Roads Association. The campaign to interest the public and swell the membership was outlined at the meeting of the local at the Commercial Club last night.

A. H. Strong, John Beaven and A. V. Van Dine were named the committee to arrange for the public meeting, the run and the banquet. The coming meeting of the state association here was discussed, and steps toward arranging for it were taken.

A. H. Strong was elected president, succeeding C. G. Mardon, and A. F. Van Dine succeeds Mr. Strong as treasurer.

Chairman John Beaven of the county road board spoke of the work in hand and planned. He said in part:

"We want to place the roads that serve the most people in condition first, and we are taking them up in this order. This biela road, already arranged for, the Corrales road, and then the Tijeras road. Not in importance for general work = the road south on this side of the river, but as we have already done some work there, those people should feel safe.

Efforts to free R. Iwaya, a Japanese accused of embezzlement, on habeas corpus failed today in the district court. Counsel for Iwaya, who was held for a hearing by Justice of the Peace McClellan Wednesday, succeeded in getting a writ yesterday, and Justice Reynolds set the hearing for this
